Letter from Pat

Dear Friends,

I am excited about the changes taking place in my business, especially the opening of two new galleries in Virginia, one in Waynesboro and the other in Blacksburg. Also, my children are becoming more involved in the running of things, which pleases me very much. They each have their own unique strengths and ideas to contribute. The first article in this issue of the Sentinel provides more details on what's been going on "in the world of Moss."

I'm settling into my new lake house in Radford and hosted a potluck lunch to help the Moss in the Valley and the Moss in the Country Chapters celebrate their respective 25th and 20th Anniversaries. We had loads of fun, especially with the games. We even had a contest to see who could draw the best black cat. I had to wear a sleeping mask and demonstrate how I could draw one in my sleep.

I thoroughly enjoyed our "San Francisco and Wine Country Delights" trip at the end of August before starting my fall show schedule. I always look forward to seeing my friends on my travels!

Love,

The P. Buckley Moss Museum in Waynesboro, VA, closed on July 14, 2014, after 25 wonderful years.

P. Buckley Moss Galleries, Ltd., Announces Changes (cont.)

The new gallery opened on September 2, with a grand opening that coincided with Pat's October 10-12 Barn Show. The downtown gallery will retain the Museum's phone number of 540-949-6473 and will be managed by the Museum's director Corrado Gabellieri and Pat's daughter Ginny. The Museum has regularly hosted community and cultural events, such as concerts, the Invitational Art Show, the P. Buckley Moss Foundation for Children's Education's Summer Art Enrichment Program, etc.; and, the company will be seeking all the necessary approvals to continue these events at The Barn, located at 127 Heritage Drive in Waynesboro.

Pat's new gallery in Waynesboro is located at 329 West Main Street and opened on September 2. The sign in the photo above is representational.

In addition, Pat and P. Buckley Moss Galleries, Ltd., have opened a new gallery at 223 Gilbert Street, located within the North End Center and adjacent to Virginia Tech's new Moss Arts Center in Blacksburg, Virginia. The gallery will feature a wide selection of Pat's framed originals and giclées. It will be managed by Pat's daughter Becky Ghezzi with help from her big sister Mary Donnelly. For more information on the Blacksburg gallery, please give them a call at 540-552-6446.

Pat's new gallery in Blacksburg, VA, opened in May and is located at 223 Gilbert Street, within the North End Center and adjacent to Virginia Tech's new Moss Arts Center.

Of the transition, Pat said, "We are excited about the changes occurring throughout 2014 and so thrilled to be a part of Waynesboro's revitalization efforts through the opening of our new gallery on West Main Street. We look forward to joining with the many other businesses and individuals dedicated to returning our beautiful downtown area to its former glory. I am proud to call Waynesboro my home for so many years now, and I cherish the many friends and neighbors who continue to play such an important part in my life. I hope that all will join in my excitement for our community and for the future of our city."

With the July transition from the P. Buckley Moss Museum to the two new galleries in Waynesboro and Blacksburg, Virginia, the company has relocated the Memorial Walkway commemorative bricks, benches, and plaques from their location at the Museum to a carefully selected new setting on the grounds of the Moss Barn. Due to restrictions regarding removal of the existing dedication trees from the Museum property, the company plans to surround the new memorial setting with an equal number of young trees to continue the dedication and tradition. The P. Buckley Moss Foundation for Children's Education will continue to order commemorative bricks and have them placed in the new Memorial Walkway area. For more information, please contact Brenda Simmons at the Foundation office: 540-932-1728.

Everyone had a chance to see the new Memorial Walkway and patio area during Pat's October 10-12 Barn Show, which coincided with the grand opening of the new downtown gallery at 329 West Main Street in Waynesboro. The grand opening began with a ribbon cutting ceremony at 9:30 a.m. on Friday, October 10. Collectors were invited to stop by Friday, October 10, through Sunday, October 12, for refreshments and a tour of the gallery. After the ribbon cutting ceremony Friday morning, Pat headed over to The Barn to meet collectors and sign their prints throughout the weekend.

Jaik Henderson, who has been with P. Buckley Moss Galleries, Ltd., for over thirty years, is taking this time in his life to pursue other lifelong interests. Jaik recently left the company, and we sincerely thank him for his many years of service and wish him all the best in the next chapter of his life. Pat's daughter Patty Moss will continue to lead the distribution center, known as The Moss Portfolio, in Mathews, Virginia, and will be assuming many of Jaik's responsibilities.

on the Harbison Scholarship and other scholarships administered by the Foundation may be found in the next article.

The P. Buckley Moss Foundation for Children's Education Announces 2014 Scholarship Awards

The P. Buckley Moss Foundation for Children's Education is pleased to announce the recipients of its three scholarships.

Anne & Matt Harbison Scholarship

($1,500, renewable)

The 2014 recipient of the Anne & Matt Harbison Scholarship is Brian Meersma of Princeton Junction, New Jersey, who is a graduate of West Windsor-Plainsboro High School. The Harbison Scholarship is awarded to one high school senior with a certified language-related learning difference who is pursuing post-secondary education.

Brian's learning difference is dyslexia. Not being able to read as fast or comprehend as well as his peers made school challenging and took away time for extracurricular activities. To allow him to read faster and understand text, Brian used assistive technologies that read text to him using text-to-speech, which has also helped him to better understand and advocate for people with learning differences.

Three years ago, Brian started a blog to help people learn about assistive technologies. This blog has attracted over 860,000 page views.

He has traveled to Washington, DC, to talk to law makers and is the only teen member of the Bookshare National Advisory Board. Brian said, "I became involved in advocacy when I realized how few people know about the available resources for dyslexic students. It is gratifying to know that I am able to help others achieve success."

He is planning on attending Cornell University in the fall to pursue a career related to technology and disabilities. After college Brian would like to develop technologies to help the next generation of students with dyslexia and other learning differences.

Judith Cary Leadership Memorial Scholarship

($1,000)

Laura Gardocki is the recipient of the 2014 Judith Cary Leadership Memorial Scholarship, which is awarded to a student who is working either full-time or part-time toward a special needs certification or undergraduate or graduate degree in the field of special education.

At the early age of eight when seated next to a German-speaking Down syndrome classmate, Laura said she wanted to be his one-on-one aide. Throughout junior high school, she became more involved with students with special needs and their aides. In high school, she had a summer job taking care of a sixteen-year-old boy with Down syndrome. She says that special education teachers were constantly inspiring her with their innovation and creativity.

While attending the University of New Hampshire for her undergraduate degree in Communication Sciences and Disorders, she took every opportunity to stay involved with teaching. She has been a teaching assistant for American Sign Language classes as well as an ASL tutor to special athletes. This experience at UNH and her volunteer work with adolescents with disabilities has helped her to focus on her career goal of being a special educator at the secondary level.

Laura says, "I have found that all of my experiences reaffirm that going into special education is exactly what I want to do with the rest of my life." She will be attending the University of New Hampshire, pursuing a master degree in special education.

P. Buckley Moss Endowed Scholarship

(amount of award varies, renewable)

Briana "Andie" Burns, a student at Parkview High School in Little Rock, Arkansas, is the 2014 recipient of the P. Buckley Moss Endowed Scholarship in the amount of $1,000. This scholarship is awarded to one or more high school seniors with financial need, a certified language-related learning difference, and artistic talent who plan a career in the visual arts.

Andie tries to put a piece of herself in all of her artwork and not let it be just a class assignment. She pushes herself to work harder than others so people will recognize how smart she really is and not just focus on her learning difference of dyslexia. She was bullied growing up because of her learning difference, and the other children thought she was stupid. She says, "Now that I am in high school, I do not let the hardships I have faced show. Most people describe me as optimistic, outspoken, and dedicated."

During high school, she was enrolled in the Advanced Placement Studio Art Drawing Class and is a talented artist. She volunteers at the Arkansas Health Department doing face painting, which she has done since elementary school, for a variety of their events. She believes in helping others no matter what and would like to use her art as a way to help people.

Andie's plan is to obtain an associates degree in art and a masters in art therapy. Her dream is to earn her art degree and begin working in a business giving art lessons. She wants to obtain her license for art therapy and open her own studio, offering art lessons and art therapy sessions.

Andie has been accepted at Pulaski Technical College in North Little Rock, Arkansas.

Third Annual P. Buckley Moss Invitational Art Show

The P. Buckley Moss Museum hosted the grand opening of its 3rd Annual P. Buckley Moss Invitational Art Show on May 1. Pat said, "The opening reception for the Third Annual P. Buckley Moss Invitational Art Show on Thursday night was a delight, and I wish everyone could have been there to see the excited and interested faces of all the young people and their parents. It was such fun for my girls and me, who are all involved in art, to see and talk to the students and feel their enthusiasm for what they are doing. The teachers of all these children have given so much of their time and talent, and it is so obvious in their drawing, paintings, sculptures, etc."

Pat was the judge for the Grand Prize/Best in Show category and chose Jilly Dudley's (Waynesboro High School) chalk drawing of a glass, which appears in the background. Pat also gave Honorable Mentions to Madeline Bender of Waynesboro High School, Justin Scott Sprouse of Highland County High School, Tatayana Bost of Waynesboro High School, Madeline Sherry of Shenandoah Valley Governor's School, and Ali Reynolds of Shenandoah Valley Governor's School.

Gemma Youngman of East Rockingham High School won First Place in the Sculpture category. Cullen Edwards of Shenandoah Valley Governor's School won Second Place in Sculpture and Autumn DeLuca of Stuarts Draft High School, Third Place. The Sculpture category was judged by Sandra Terry, Leslie Banta, and Jennifer Sands Deane. Sandra Terry holds both an MA and an MFA in Art and works as a painter and printmaker. Leslie Banta is an artist and owns and operates Staunton Art Supply and also teaches at the Beverley Street Studio School and at Blue Ridge Community College in its Continuing Ed Program. Jennifer Sands Deane is a prize winning artist who has shown in numerous juried shows and invitational exhibits in Virginia, New York City, and on the West Coast. She is also a participant in The Carlton Arms Hotel Project in New York City (an ongoing, ever-evolving art project).

The Drawing category was judged by Terri McDonnell, who is a Waynesboro area artist specializing in creating pet portraits, custom paintings, and design. She just started her own business, The Enchanted Artist. The First Place winner in the Drawing category was Olivia Heeb of Fort Defiance High School. The Second Place Winner was Gabrielle Rothacker of Shenandoah Valley Governor's School and Brittany Taylor of Waynesboro High School, Third Place.

The Second Place winner was Leighton Bradley of Shenandoah Valley Governor's School and Amelia Herring of Shenandoah Valley Governor's School, Third Place.

The Painting category was judged by Pat's daughter Becky Ghezzi. Becky received her BA in Painting and Printmaking from Corcoran College of Art in Washington, DC, and received her MFA in Printmaking and Book Arts from the University of Georgia. CENTRAL IOWA Chapter (Des Moines, IA) members raised $2,684 via their annual charity luncheon in April, 2013. Among the items raffled was a remarked Tales Retold print that was donated by the Society's Charity Print Program. The theme of the tea was "For the Love of Reading". The Chapter also donated $130 to the Summer Art Enrichment Program that is sponsored by the P. Buckley Moss Foundation for Children's Education and voted to give a $100 donation from member Chris Iddles to Youth and Shelter Services for recreational activities funding.

The Heart of Iowa Chapter celebrated its 20th Anniversary in 2013. Chapter members support their community in many ways, including listening to children read, assisting at an after-school program for low-income children, delivering Meals on Wheels, teaching a literature class to second graders, volunteering at hospitals, labeling books for Raising Readers, and helping prepare or serve meals at Food at First. Members also collect non-perishable food items for Food at First as well as plastic containers and bags for takeout meals.

LAKE MARBURG MOSS

Chapter (Hanover, PA) members held a Longaberger® Basket Lotto in July, 2013, that netted proceeds of $2,200. The funds were used to provide two $2,000 scholarships to local college students via the Martin's Gallery Scholarship Fund. The Chapter also collected Christmas gifts, including toys, clothing, and gift cards, for a family with two small children whose father is fighting cancer of his tonsils.

MOSS HEAVEN Chapter (Fairfield, IA) members voted to disband the chapter in November, 2013, after 24 very successful years. The chapter will be missed very much.

In 2013, the Chapter assisted Indian Hills Community College (IHCC) in obtaining a Gothic Homestead print from the Society's Charity Print Program and assisted with the sale of raffle tickets. The print was framed by M&J Gallery of Ottumwa, IA, and the lucky winner was Scott Evans of Ottumwa. The raffle raised $3,472 to provide scholarships for students who attend IHCC. The Chapter distributed its funds as follows: $4,700 to IHCC for its Moss Heaven Scholarships, $900 to Fairfield's Lord's Cupboard (distributes food and other items to needy families at Christmas), $900 to Ottumwa's Lord's Cupboard, and $200 to Dizzy the Clown (visits nursing homes and schools).

MOSS IN THE COUNTRY

The print brought in $234. The lucky winner was Gretchen Robertson.

MOSS IN THE MOUNTAINS

Chapter (Princeton, WV) in 2013 raffled a remarked Family of Joy print that was donated by the Society's Charity Print Program. The raffle proceeds of $2,100 was presented to the Bluefield Union Mission. Framing was donated by Frameworks Plus of Bluefield, WV, and the lucky winner was Helen Royal of Christiansburg, VA.

It was incorrectly reported in the March, 2014, issue of the Sentinel that the Chapter raffled a remarked Family of Joy in 2012; however, the print for that raffle had been donated by a source other than the Society and was not a remarked Family of Joy. We apologize for the error.

Total raised for charity in these chapter reports is over $37,539. Outstanding!

The Chapter also assisted Jobs for America's Graduates in obtaining a Remembering Yesteryear print from the Society's Charity Print Program for its silent auction. Framing was donated by The Beveled Edge of Glen Allen, VA, and the print brought in $250. The lucky winner was Ron Weeks.

MOSSAPHILE Chapter (Atlanta, GA) members conducted a raffle in 2013 that benefited the Moss

The Framery also donated a framed With My Love print as a second prize for the raffle. The proceeds from the raffle were $830. The raffle drawing was held in conjunction with The Framery's show with Pat in March, and Pat drew the winning tickets. Nancy Chesna was the lucky winner of Country Memories, and Vic Svetlay was the lucky winner of With My Love.

Chapter members also donated canned and other non-perishable food items to their local food pantry and a $40 check to help a local church with its "Snax Pax" program (bags of food to children who may need it on weekends).
