2008 Chapter Companion Piece

Pictured above is "Come Skate with Me," the chapter companion piece to the 2008 members-only print, "Fun with Mom." This special print is valued at $45 but is not for sale. Only Society members who are members of a local chapter and who purchase "Fun with Mom" can receive this print, which is a gift to chapter members to thank them for their hard work for charities on Pat's behalf.

If you are not sure if you are a chapter member, check with your chapter's president to see if you are a member. You must be a member in good standing by December 31. When we receive the chapter's annual report that lists all of its members, a separate redemption card will be mailed to the member. This redemption certificate will have complete instructions on how to obtain the print.

Welcome, Junior Members!

Our Junior members will now receive the Sentinel newsletter with a dedicated page just for them! In this issue, it is page 4. They will receive all four issues each year instead of three issues of the Fledgling. This is their second issue of the Sentinel, and we hope they are enjoying it. We also think the adult members will enjoy the Junior articles and games.

Going Green!

The Society board is looking at how we can be more conscious of taking care of our planet. We want to do our part in "Going Green," and we are pleased to announce the availability of our Sentinel newsletter online. A fun benefit of receiving the newsletter online is that the artwork and photos will be in color instead of black and white. So the recycle image here is green and the photos below are in color in the online version!

To receive your newsletter via the Internet instead of the mail, please let us know that you would like this new delivery method. You can call, e-mail us, or when you renew simply note this on your form. If you have any questions, we would be more than happy to help.

Presidents' Award

Surely, most of us have noted people who go beyond the rest of us in their work with children. Now it's time to act on our observations and reward those people for their efforts.

Please consider nominating someone for the Presidents' Award, which rewards a person who has made a significant contribution to the betterment of children. This award is intended for a volunteer, a mentor, a teacher, a counselor, anyone who has significantly improved the lot of children. If in a formal education situation, the circumstances should be above and beyond what is normally expected of a paid professional.

Past recipients include Marie Nales, Deb Weisgerber, Holly Kirkpatrick, Floyd Boothe, and Sarah Baird.

Further information and an application form are on the Society's web site.

Vol. 22, No. 3 • July 2008

The Society's mission is to foster appreciation of the art of P. Buckley Moss, to promote charitable endeavors consistent with her ideals, and to promote the use of the arts in special education.

Kimberly Winsett Receives Harbison Award

The case worker for Kimberly Winsett of Maxeys, Georgia, stated, "Kimberly is a model for all people that hard work, preparation, and involvement can enable any person to achieve and succeed." The Society's scholarship committee is pleased to award the 2008 P. Buckley Moss Society — Anne and Matt Harbison Scholarship to Kimberly, a recent graduate of Oglethorpe County High School.

Many of the applicants, which came from 26 different states, would prove to be excellent investments in our country's future. It is always a shame that all of these outstanding students cannot receive this award, but their applications prove that they will all be successful.

Kimberly began speech therapy at age four. After spending time in a remedial grade called Readiness to receive extra help with her reading, writing, and fine motor skills, she was diagnosed at age seven with a learning disability in reading, written expression, spelling, and comprehension. From first through tenth grades, she received extra help with pullout sessions and then a resource class or study skills class. She has attended summer school and several tutoring sessions to help with her academic work. Her hard work and determination paid off as she ranked second in her graduating class.

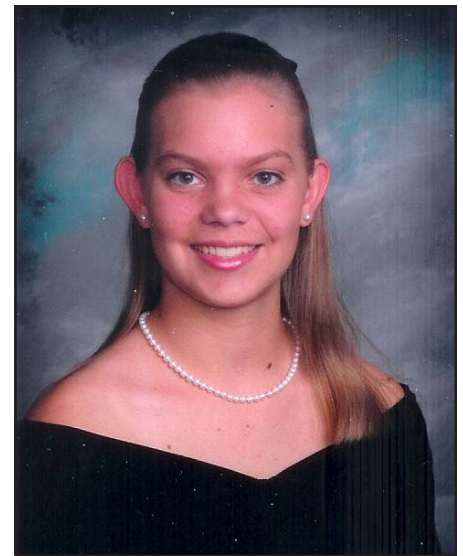

She began using a Victor Pro Reader when she was in ninth grade to complete her academic reading assignments. She said, "I was able to read along in my book while the Victor Pro Reader read to me. I could stop and start it at any given point to take notes. It allowed me to understand and comprehend the text better." She registered with The Recording for the Blind and Dyslexic and began ordering all her textbooks on CD. Twice she has been a guest speaker for the organization at its annual "Ask Event" fundraiser. She explained her disabilities, the manner in which she has coped and succeeded, and the ways in which the technology provided by the organization has supported her tremendous success.

All the applicants had their own passions in their lives. Kimberly's is music. She participated in concert and symphonic band for seven years, marching band for six years, and jazz band for two years. She is the flute section leader and soloist. She helped out at rookie marching band camp and tutored younger students in band as well as math.

Kimberly has been a leader in 4H, having been vice president, board member, and currently president. She has taught 4H summer classes for five years, but she is proudest of her personal project club, which utilized her musical talents. The "Toot-A-Flute" project club began in 2005-6 when she taught 4H members how to play a recorder and a kazoo. They enjoyed making homemade instruments and performing songs on them. It was such a success that she decided to continue it in 2007-8. This time she hosted it at a local day care center in her community. She taught the youngsters about different instruments, music, and music opportunities they will have as they grow up and enter middle school and high school. She invited guests to come and perform on a variety of instruments.

One of her favorite activities to help others is the collection of aluminum can tabs for the Ronald McDonald House. She has an affinity for this charity since she and her

Hi, Everyone,

I hope you are having a wonderful summer. I look forward to seeing many of you at our events this year. Lance and his terrific staff do a great job in keeping our members informed. Many of you had to wait to receive your brooch this year, and we

I am sure all of you are watching the costs go up on everything, from gas, groceries, and postage. The Society is feeling this also, especially the postage. We are working on going green along with the whole country. We are asking if you would like to receive your Sentinel on line.

I am looking forward to seeing some of you at Chapter Training in Waynesboro at the Museum this year. Peggy and her committee are putting together a great weekend, and it should be fun and informative. Thank you to all of you who are in our chapters; we appreciate your hard work and commitment.

It is always a fun weekend, and we hope many of you will attend.

Why Not Consider Traveling with Fellow Society Members

Pat has been polling numerous collectors about their preferences regarding a trip to include Spain. The 2009 P. Buckley Moss Society trip will be a Mediterranean cruise on Holland America Line's ms Noordam.

The ship will depart Rome on June 28, 2009. Ports of call will include Livorno to visit Florence and Pisa, Monte Carlo, Barcelona, Palma de Mallorca, Tunisia, Sicily, and Naples before returning to Rome on July 8.

Per person rates for inside staterooms start at $1,599, outside ones at $1,799, verandahs at $2,299, and suites from $2,899. Book early for the best cabins and rates. A $50 per person early booking shipboard credit is included. These rates are for the cruise only and do not include taxes, port charges, insurance, shore excursions, or air fares.

To book your cabin or to obtain further information, contact Tidewater Travel at (804) 725-1222 or (866) 804-4041 or tideh2o@wildblue.net and talk to Judy.

Cabins might also still be available on this October's barge trip on the Ohio River. Just ask Judy. 🐾

Dear Society Friends,

I just celebrated my 75th birthday, and I am happy. What a wonderful thing it is to be happy with one's life! Yes, I have faced challenges, but I have learned from them and feel that I am a stronger person for having experienced them. I have been blessed with six amazing children and ten precious grandchildren, as well as a career doing something I love that has given me the opportunity to meet people and see the world. Because of the many blessings and opportunities in my life, I am able to give back. At the same time, I know this wouldn't be possible without you. Members of the Society are among the most caring, generous people I have ever met. You are another of my blessings.

I am writing this letter from Cortona, Italy, where my oldest granddaughter Kate Donnelly, who is studying art at the University of Georgia (UGA), and I have been spending a few weeks with my daughter Becky Ghezzi, who teaches periodically with UGA, and her family. I love Cortona and celebrating the Italian half of my heritage. Oh! The culture, the history, and the food! Kate and I arrived just in time for my granddaughter Michela's first communion, and we try to go someplace special each week. So far, we've attended a performance of the Polyphonic Choir of Florence at the Duomo of Cortona and toured Pienza, Montepulciano, and Orvieto. Pienza is famous for its Pecorino cheese, and Montepulciano is famous for its wine. Orvieto is really interesting because it is built on a plateau above volcanic rock. I am so glad that I finally got to see this precious town. A network of over 4,000 caves has been carved out of the rock under the city. The caves were used as bomb shelters during World War II. Also, nesting holes for pigeons were carved into the cave walls. In Roman times, the pigeons and their eggs were used as a food source when the city was under siege by barbarians.

I'll return to the United States mid-June and start painting for my busy late summer and fall show schedule. I'll also have a Collectors' Convention September 12-13 at the Hotel Roanoke, in Roanoke, Virginia. I'm looking forward to seeing many of you soon!

Love and Ciao!

Important Society News: Brooches, Dates. . .

BROOCH DELAY

We would like to apologize to members that have renewed for 2008 but received their brooch late or are still waiting for its arrival. Like last year, we had to go back to the drawing board regarding how we get our brooches made. This took more time than we could have ever predicted. Sticking to our high quality standards while keeping costs down is a very hard task. We are shipping brooches as soon as we receive them, but we are getting them in small quantities so it will take some time to get caught up. We appreciate your patience and continued commitment to the Society.

Do you have a large collection of artwork that you have made? Do you like to help other people? Then why not organize an Art Show?

One summer, Madison Flory's mom told her and her brothers, Brayden age 8 and Evan age 5, that they all had to get rid of some of their artwork from school. She let them keep some of their favorites.

Instead of throwing their artwork away, they decided to have an Art Show. They set up the artwork and even named the pieces. They invited their grandparents, aunts and uncles, and their teachers. On the day of the show, people came and looked at the artwork. If anyone wanted to buy something, they put a donation in the box which the kids had decorated. After the show, they donated the money from the art sale to their school's Locker Stocker project, which gives school supplies to students who can't afford to buy their own.

A Fledgling member of the Society since 2001, 10-year-old Madison said, "The Art Show was a lot of fun. We got rid of some of our artwork that our mom was going to make us throw away, and we raised money for a good cause! Plus, we still get to see some of our artwork when we visit our grandmas' houses!"

How Many Words Game

How many different words can you find in P. BUCKLEY MOSS SOCIETY? If you work really hard, you can find over 150 words. Good luck!

Send us your list by September 1. The name of the junior member with the longest list will be published in the next issue.

- People names are not allowed, for example, Tom.
- Do not use the same letter more than once unless there are two of that letter, for example, test.
- Do not just add an "s" to another word to make it plural, for example, tie to ties.

Crossman Receives Scholarship Renewal

Fallon Crossman received a renewal of $1,000 from the P. Buckley Moss Endowed Scholarship to continue her studies at Mount Ida College in Newton, Massachusetts.

The school's Interior Design Program introduces students to the design courses right away in the freshman year. Fallon was excited about the courses she took, the projects she completed, and the entire college experience.

Her Interior Design Studio I class taught the principles of interior design and ways to read the environment visually. After studying scale and proportion, natural light and shadows, color schematics, textiles, furniture layout, and how art and architecture relate, she enjoyed the project of designing the interior of a house for a client based on interview questions which she had developed.

Design Studio II included redesigning her dorm room.

In addition to the design process and her drawing classes, she is learning about how culture and behavior influence one's perception of the interior environment.

Some topics are building codes including ADA guidelines, sustainable materials, lighting, and various presentation methods.

Although the complex language in her courses can be challenging because of her language based learning disability, her design courses typically present material visually, which is the way she learns best. When needed, she participates in The Learning Circle, a program that supports students with learning disabilities. Organization continues to be one of her strengths.

Fallon said, "While I am in a room, I often find myself thinking about redesigning the room. This tells me that I have learned and I am applying my new found knowledge."

"Thus far I have been fully satisfied with my choice of Interior Design as a major."

Initially, she was worried about her class workload and did not try out for cheerleading. Discovering she could handle the work, she became a winter cheerleader for both men's and women's basketball. She loves the campus because it is very small and makes her feel right at home, yet it is close enough for her to take the train to Boston to visit the Museum of Fine Arts and the Design Center. 🐾

*Chapter UpdatesChapters Continue Charity Efforts, Activities

HEART OF IOWA Chapter (Ames, IA) held its annual charity tea on April 15 at Memorial Lutheran Church in Nevada, Iowa. This year's theme was Celebrations. A few of the table themes were Happy Valentine's Day, Garden Tea Party, Bridal Shower, May Day, Winter Wonderland, Autumn Leaves, and Mother's Day. Nearly 140 ladies were served. The Ames Children's Choir provided the entertainment.

The $2,983 raised on admissions and raffles will go first to fund fully two teachers to attend the Foundation Conference. Remaining funds will be disbursed to various local agencies supporting children. Winners of items included Shelly Boyd, "Painting the Joy of the Soul" book; Lil Gaulke, "Rainy Day Through the Window" and "Two Geese"; and Deborah Witte, "Favorite Escape."

MOSSAPHILE Chapter (Tucker, GA) sponsored raffles at both galleries in the Atlanta area which hosted shows with Pat in March. The recipient of the funds raised was the P. Buckley Moss Foundation for Children's Education to use for art education, scholarships, etc.

The March 1 show at The Framery in Marietta raised $732. The winner of "Spring in Savannah" was Scarlett Justice. She had rejoined the chapter plus bought tickets for both shows' raffles and left before realizing she had won.

The March 2 show at Mount Gallery in Tucker raised $1,204.

Cheryl Pietz (center), president of the Heart of Iowa Chapter, welcomes this year's recipients of the chapter's funds to attend the Foundation Conference, Cheryl Moss, special education teacher at Ballard East Elementary, and Emily Christians, art teacher in Gilbert Elementary.

Everybody screamed when chapter member Peggy Powell's ticket was drawn to win "Evening Sky." She had just had surgery two weeks earlier and was in rehab during Pat's visit.

The chapter would like to thank both dealers for their beautiful framing donations as well as their gracious hospitality during the events.

CENTRAL IOWA Chapter (Des Moines, IA) held its fourth annual tea on April 20 at the Crown Point Center in Johnston, Iowa. Nancy Hemphill and Cindy Woodhall, both the teachers that the chapter sponsored to the Foundation Conference in 2007, attended and spoke briefly. Sister Act 3 (Gloria Reese, Evie Nemec, and Jan Tegeler) known as the "Order of Confusion" was the musical entertainment. They wore their nun apparel while eating and through their first act. The second act consisted of two of them wearing boas and one a chicken face. Their final act was performed wearing old fashioned swim suits.

Bidding was fast and furious for the live auction items, especially the framed giclée rose that was signed on the glass by Pat. Other live auction items were a Longaberger basket, Longaberger vase, two early Moss prints, a lovely tea basket with tea from the only tea plantation in the United States, and a cat goodie bag. The live auction, silent auction, and ticket sales raised $1,830. The chapter again hopes to sponsor two teachers to the 2008 Foundation Conference. 🐾

Pat draws the winning raffle ticket in Marietta, Georgia, on March 1. Mossaphile members attending included Lindsay and Vic Svetlay, Sue Brissey, and Toni and Bill Jernigan.

Total raised for charity in these chapter reports is $6, 749!

*Convention InformationIowa Convention Showed Iowan Generosity

Kudos to Moss Country Friends Chapter from Kalona, Iowa, for their exceptional volunteer efforts at the April 4-5 Moss Collectors' Convention at Riverside Casino & Golf Resort. Their first contribution was hosting the Friday bus tour of Kalona. They set up coffee and breakfast for the group and distributed goodie bags from town merchants. The attendees then visited quilt museums and antique and fabric shops. They saw Kalona's Historical Village before lunching at the Tuscan Moon. While Pat returned to the hotel to prepare for the convention (take a nap), the rest of the tour group visited the Kalona Cheese House, which supplies cheese for Kraft Foods.

Chapter members outdid themselves in gathering items for the 100 Freedom Bags, which raised $2,000 at the "Proud to Be an American" dinner dance. Most bags were worth considerably more than the $20 which they cost. Chapter member Cindy Gingerich was the lucky winner of the framed miniature original. Other chapters that helped with this project were Central Iowa, Heart of Iowa, Lake Marburg Moss, Moss Heaven, Moss Reflections, and Moss Shows Children.

Additionally, the chapter collected throughout the convention 283 new bath towels which were donated to Four Oaks, which provides family-based programs to help individuals resolve family issues and rebuild or maintain relationships. The organization was overwhelmed with the generous giving by the convention attendees.

The chapter also sponsored the raffle of the remarked "Let's Pledge Allegiance," which was framed by The Village Shoppe. The raffle and the auction of a stay at the Casino raised $925 for the University of Iowa Children's Hospital. The raffle winner was Jennifer Matalak of North Liberty.

The live auction at the dinner dance raised $3,175 (plus the $2,000 from the bags), which was divided between the Foundation and the Endowed Scholarship Fund. The highest single item was the quilted bunny wall hanging; Pat painted the center panel, and chapter member Pearl Yoder completed the quilting. Throughout the convention, the quilt was showcased behind where Pat was signing. 🐰

Make Plans to Attend Roanoke Convention

The next Moss Collectors' Convention will be at the Hotel Roanoke in Roanoke, Virginia, on September 12 and 13. The convention rates are $138 per room and can be reserved by calling (866) 594-4722.

The P. Buckley Moss Foundation for Children's Education is sponsoring a unique event, an Author Luncheon on Friday at 1 p.m. for $35. There will be an opportunity to purchase books by the attending authors and have them autographed at the close of the luncheon. Pat will be the opening speaker and will be joined by Merle Good, author of the Reuben children's books. They will debut Reuben and the Balloon, the fourth Reuben book. Other authors speaking about their books will be Sharyn McCrumb, author of dozens of books; Logan Ward of Staunton, Virginia, who has a newly published book; and author and quilt maker Camelia Elliott from Pilot, Virginia, also with a new book. Contact the Foundation (540) 932-1728 for additional information or tickets.

The Convention itself will open that afternoon at 4:00 p.m., an hour earlier than it has in the past. It will close at 9 p.m. and reopen Saturday from 9 to 5. Two-day tickets will cost $12 if purchased in advance and $15 at the door. A one-day ticket is $8.

In addition to the large and small convention prints, which Pat is still working on, a new Virginia poster will be released which features many Virginia landmarks.

The Society is again sponsoring the dinner dance, Proud to Be an American, at 6:30 Saturday. The featured entrees on the Grand Old Lady buffet, in honor of the Statue of Liberty, will be Prime Rib au Jus and Chesapeake Bay Pasta with Shrimp and Scallops in a Smithfield Ham cream sauce. There will be a live auction, a silent auction, and a raffle piece. Contact the Society at (540) 943-5678 for dinner dance tickets, which will cost $45. Let's see lots of you there wearing your red, white, and blue! 🐰

Rachael Ranck Receives Cary Scholarship

The twelfth recipient of the Cary Leadership Memorial Scholarship is Rachael Ranck of Christiana, Pennsylvania. She is currently a junior at Messiah College in Grantham, Pennsylvania pursuing certification for both Elementary Education and Special Education.

Rachael is a member of the Messiah College Honors Program, which includes taking honors classes and attending Honors Congresses and Lectures on campus. She is also part of the College's Diplomat Program, which assists during presentations for Open Houses and on Accepted Student Preview Days. In addition, she was selected to serve on a small panel of students to interview candidates for a new Dean of the School of Education and Social Sciences.

During her senior year in high school, Rachael volunteered for two hours each day at a local elementary school. Initially, she was to help in a fourth grade classroom, but instead was sent to the Resource Room. That unexpected experience showed her how much she enjoyed working with students with special needs.

Additional experiences working with children include being a math tutor for an elementary student. At church, she is a volunteer Kid's Club leader for girls in grades one through three. During the school year, she baby sat two afternoons each week. This will be her second summer working as a nanny for a family with two boys, ages 7 and 10, learning a lot about children and responsibility.

She has worked on the family owned and run hog farm since she was young. She helps on weekends when she is home and during breaks from school. She works in the barn before going to work as a nanny and mows yards in the evenings.

"Someone needs to take the time and educate the children who do not fit into the cookie cutter mold of public education."

Rachael is not so naive as to think she is going to be the best teacher ever and impact every student she teachers. She said, "I do want to change children's lives and although the majority of children may move through my classes and not be permanently impacted, I hope at least a few students are infinitely changed because I have loved them, taught them, and we have mutually become better people."

Rachael was nominated by The People's Place Gallery of Intercourse, Pennsylvania. 🐾

The Ronald McDonald House provides housing for parents who need to be close to their hospitalized children. Because her grandfather passed away from cancer, she also volunteers her time to support the American Cancer Society. She has participated in a variety of jobs at the local Relay for Life event, including handing out balloons to cancer survivors, setting up luminary bags around the football field, and this year playing several flute solos during entertainment time.

Kimberly has been accepted at Gainesville State College where she will major in K-8 education. She might work with students with learning disabilities, or she might teach math at the middle school level. When she was 11 years old, she went to church with several deaf people and took a sign language class in order to communicate with them. She hopes to take sign language classes in college as her foreign language and one day possibly work with hearing impaired students. She said, "My personal goal is to become a great educator and hopefully be remembered by students as a teacher that contributed to their success."

Kimberly was nominated for this award by longtime Society member Harriet R. Lester of Athens, Georgia. 🐾
